

Daffodils

by Rev. Joe Dirt - Friday, December 31, 2021

<https://curmudgeon-alley.com/daffodils/>

This just ain't right...

Here it is the 31st of December, 2021 in St. Louis, Missouri and our daffodils are trying to come up. At least part of our yard of northern grasses looks like a pass with the mower would do it some good. The temperature currently is 65. Most of the week has been mild and rainy.

But wait, there is about to be a major beat down of our poor, confused flowers. Sunday is going to be a high of 24 with an overnight low of 10. Later in the week snow might be here with lows in the single digits.

I once heard someone describe Mother Nature as a pissed off biker bitch with a bad attitude. And yet we keep messing with her.

And so it goes.