8SCNDS

This was on the back of a F-150 pickup truck. Its message was reinforced by a sticker on the back windshield that read “Cowboy Up”. 8 seconds is the amount of time a rodeo cowboy must stay on a bull or bucking bronco to qualify for a score. Having known a couple bull riders, they are some crazy mo-fos.

I have not put out a Vanity Plate posting for a while, mainly because I am retired and not spending an hour and half or two hours a day commuting to and from downtown St. Louis. When I did I used the exercise of deciphering vanity plates as a way to help pass the time in rush hour traffic.
