

Made in America: small businesses buck the offshoring trend

by Rev. Joe Dirt - Monday, March 07, 2011

<http://www.curmudgeon-alley.com/made-in-america-small-businesses-buck-the-offshoring-trend/>

Link to an article about small companies that have decided that off-shoring manufacturing is not that good a deal. Labor may be cheap, but the quality and deadlines are not there.

Made in America: small businesses buck the offshoring trend

All I can say is hip hip hooray...maybe some more American companies will see the light. I detailed in another article my trials and tribulations trying to find a pair of work gloves NOT made in China. I did finally find a pair made in Pakistan. That is not the USA, but I would rather it be Pakistan than China.

I am still waiting for someone to explain to me why they are selling frozen vegetables from China. I've gotten where I check the "where from" on the package and if it is not USA or at least this hemisphere I put it back in the freezer.

Share this:

- Share
-

Like this:

Like Loading...